

PRIVACY POLICY

1. Mechanism of cookies

When browsing websites, according to the browser settings and the consent given, one or several cookies may be stored on the user's computer (terminal device). Please read the following information introducing the subject of cookies.

Cookies are IT data, in particular text files stored by servers on the user's terminal device, which can be read by the servers during each connection from this terminal device. The software used for browsing the websites (browser) allows storing cookies in the user's terminal device by default. The service (website) users may change settings of cookies at any time. Such settings may be changed in particular in such a way that an automatic operation of cookies in the website browser settings will be disabled or the message of respective storing thereof in the Internet user's terminal device will be shown. Detailed information how to change the conditions of storage or maintenance of cookies (depending on the browser used) can be found here:

- in the Mozilla Firefox browser
- in the Internet Explorer browser
- in the Chrome browser
- in the Safari browser

If you do not make any changes related to cookies, this means that they will be stored in your terminal device, thus we will store the information about your terminal device and obtain access to such information. Switching off cookies, however, may cause difficulties in using some services on our website.

The cookies are used in particular to:

configure the website - enable the setting of functions and services on the authentication website - enable informing that the user is logged in so that the website may show relevant information and functions of the storage of session data (it expires at the end of session)

2. On our websites, we use the following categories of cookies:

Internal cookies - set up by our website, allowing its proper operation

Identification cookies - set up by our website for the purpose of identification of the user's session and log-in

External cookies - set up by partners of our website such as Google, used among others to analyse the website traffic, to investigate its sources and the action taken by the users, and to run advertising campaigns

3. Contact

If you have any queries concerning the privacy policy please contact us at the registered office address or by email to the address bok@koba.pl

Please note that according to the requirements of the Telecommunications Law a corresponding browser configuration will be regarded as a confirmation of consent to use the cookies. Further information concerning the cookies can be found on the website www.wszystkoociasteczkach.pl